PHOTOGRAPHY AND FILMING

Filming, photography and recording

Visitor rules and regulations authorise photography without the use of flash in the permanent collection rooms, on the following conditions:

In the permanent collection rooms, works can only be photographed or filmed for private use. The use of flash and other lighting devices is strictly prohibited.

Photography and filming are not permitted in temporary exhibition rooms.

Professional photography, filming (including drones) and recordings for radio and television broadcasts must follow certain rules and must be authorised in advance by Chillon Castle management. Forms requesting authorisation for amateur and professional filming must be filled out and sent to info@chillon.ch. Requests must be received in writing at least two months in advance.

Confirmation will be sent along with a specifications document outlining conditions of use of the area.

Permission must be sought from both Chillon Castle management and the individuals involved for the use of videos, photographs or sound recordings featuring members of the public. The castle accepts no liability for third parties if these conditions are breached.

Trademark

Since 2011, commercial use of the French name 'Château de Chillon™' (Chillon Castle) and two of the castle's viewpoints has been trademarked. This is a means for the most visited monument in Switzerland to protect its name and image from misuse. You can find further information on this subject on our dedicated trademark page.

Furthermore, the following uses are strictly prohibited:

- Collecting for charity or petitioning;
- Commercial purposes, or for the purposes of advertising, propaganda, soliciting/touting, rallies or protests.
